Sally believes that being an artist is about bringing magic into the world. She sees her art as a tool for teaching through beauty. Her work ranges from inspirational visionary painting, to large scaled detailed private and public murals. Sally's has her B.F.A. from Parson's School of Design majoring in environmental design. She believes this is her foundation in her the ability to work with architects, designers, clients and communities members alike. Eckert furthered her training by studying in Europe with the Fantastic Realists learning traditional egg tempera technics, which she applies to all her work. She participates in local Colorado and regional shows and was invited to participate internationally this year in Vienna's memorial show for Ernst Fuchs. In 2010 she was a 9News Friday Night Feature, around inspirational murals. Sally owns her gallery /studio space and holds First Friday openings in the new Boulder Art District which she help form. Sally won her first public mural for Boulder Housing Partners People First building in 2014. She has continued receiving more public murals including the Thistle Housing and Open Arts murals hung in October 2016. She is also President of the newly formed Boulder Art Matrix (BAM) 501c3 ,focused on creating live/ work artist housing and creative venues in Boulder.
